

Service 5

Listening for the Voice of Wisdom

FOCUS STATEMENT

The female figure of Wisdom—Sophia—describes a facet of God. In Proverbs 8, we read that Wisdom existed before the beginning of the world, working alongside God in the act of creation. In this last service, we take the time to heed her words, “And now, my children, listen to me” (Prov 8:32). With Sophia, we reflect on the role of Wisdom in our lives and in the life of the church.

GATHERING

Call to Worship

Leader: We are here to dwell in the company of the one who calls herself Wisdom.

We are here to witness the creativity of the skilled artisan who stood with God during the creation of the universe.

We are here to listen for the voice that offers understanding.

People: Wisdom calls out to us from the hills and from the cities. She opens the way to clarity of mind and spirit. She points to the way of justice.

Leader: Wisdom calls out to all humanity. She invites us to eat of the feast she has prepared. Let us open ourselves to her guidance and find the courage to be moved.

Consider also:

CONFESSION & ASSURANCE

Loving God, your Wisdom fills the air we breathe and calls out to us from all around.

There are times when we hear it clearly and find our way to the path of your leading.

There are other times when hearing is difficult:

when we are distracted by other voices competing loudly for our attention;

when we are unable to discern which of the voices is yours;

when we are afraid that listening to the voice of Wisdom may call us to make significant changes in our ways of living, thinking, or relating;

when we aren't sure that we are strong or worthy enough to move in the direction we are being called;

when we are tired and lack the energy it takes to listen.

We acknowledge that in these times we struggle to hear and value the voice of Wisdom.

And yet, she persists. Your Wisdom never stops calling.

Give us hearts that yearn for understanding.

Make her voice strong and clear.

Take care of us as we search for sure footing along Wisdom's path.

(Pause.)

Be assured that missed opportunities to respond to Wisdom's call are not held against you. Our God is a God of grace, whose invitation does not expire.

Amen.

Proverbs 8:1–9:6

STUDYING THE WORD & SHARING OUR STORIES

Wisdom calls: “Women and men, people everywhere, I’m calling out to you! I cry out to all humankind!” Just what or who is this Wisdom who calls to us in Proverbs and other places in the Old Testament? And who is “Sophia,” a name we often hear associated with the figure of Wisdom?

Wisdom is a facet, or characteristic, of God that appears in both the Old and New Testaments, particularly in the so-called “Wisdom literature”—Psalms, Ecclesiastes, and Proverbs. Wisdom is described as sound judgment, common sense, good counsel, understanding, and the upright way. Wisdom in the Bible (with a capital W) has deeper significance than the wisdom (lowercase w) in our general vocabulary. Wisdom in the Bible is more than making smart decisions, more than astuteness gained with age, and more than sophistication in scholarship and philosophical reflection. Biblical Wisdom is an animating quality of God that people have access to through God’s grace and love. If we are open to it, Wisdom can inhabit us and transform our hearts and minds.

Proverbs 8:12 speaks of Wisdom as a habitat, particularly the habitat of sound judgment. People today are increasingly learning about the importance of the environment for health and wholeness. The quality of the air we breathe is in direct relationship with one’s likelihood for illness. Similarly, Wisdom as an element of our inner environment is equally important. It is the element that allows for healthy thought, reflection, and decision making. Engaging more than just our minds, biblical Wisdom is an inner habitat that allows our minds to become integrated with our hearts, spirits, and bodies so that our thoughts, reflections, decisions, and actions are grounded in the many ways God might choose to communicate with us.

What about Sophia? Usually, the Bible is translated into English using ancient manuscripts written in either biblical Greek or biblical Hebrew. Sophia (σοφία) is the Greek word for wisdom, and hok-ma (הַמָּחָה) is the Hebrew word for wisdom. Unlike English, nouns have gender in Greek and Hebrew. In both Greek and Hebrew the words for wisdom are feminine, and the biblical text uses the pronoun she when referring to God’s Wisdom. Because Wisdom is personified in the biblical text, named as a part of God’s own being, and has a deeper and fuller meaning than the notion of wisdom in common speech, many translators of the Bible prefer to capitalize biblical Wisdom. Others forego translating the Greek word σοφία altogether and instead spell its pronunciation in English: Sophia. The hope is that these choices will help communicate that God's Wisdom is a character of profound significance.

Since it is common in the church and in many cultures of North America for characteristics of God to be described using predominately male language, it can be both challenging and liberating to embrace the biblical account of Wisdom as a boldly feminine facet of God. She was with God before creation began. She calls humanity to her side with authority. She is to be revered as a teacher to all, men and women alike. It is from her that rulers gain the power to govern justly. She offers a feast with bread and wine to anyone willing to sit at her table. Those who find her find life.

These descriptions of Wisdom in Proverbs have a relationship to certain descriptions of Christ in the New Testament. Consider Colossians 1:15-20, in which Christ is also said to have existed "before anything was created." Or, think of Gospel accounts of the Last Supper, in which Christ offers the disciples bread and wine at his table. Scattered throughout the New Testament are claims that those who follow Christ will find life. Perhaps even more interesting is the gospel of John's use of the term the Word in referring to Christ. In the gospel writer's culture, wisdom was commonly described as a "Word from God." While there is no way to know for sure, it is possible that using the term Word was the writer's way of describing the concept of biblical Wisdom. By placing Word, and thus Wisdom, squarely in context with God in Christ, the gospel of John asserts that all true Wisdom comes from and resides in God in Christ.

Proverbs 8 tells us that above the clamor of all that competes for our attention day by day, biblical Wisdom calls out to humanity, inviting each of us to pause, turn toward her, and listen. To those who hear her, she offers understanding. Better than silver and gold, the wealth she gives is that of truth, justice, clarity of mind and spirit. The power she gives does not perpetuate abuse, coercion, manipulation, or oppression. Wisdom offers her followers the kind of power that participates in God's mission of reconciliation for all of creation. It is the power of divine liberation.

May we be guided by the quest to hear the voice of God's Wisdom. Let us seek out her table, where she has prepared food and drink. Let us respond to her invitation to come eat her bread, drink her wine, and live, walking in the path of understanding. For those who find Wisdom find life and earn the favor of God.

REFLECTING & RESPONDING

Large or small group:

Option 1: During the service, create a space for participants to reflect on the various ways that Wisdom manifests in daily living. Ask all who are gathered to call out the names of people, communities, or other aspects of God's creation (crashing waves, a sunrise, the playfulness of animals) that have revealed to them some aspect of God's Wisdom.

Option 2: Prior to the service, ask participants to bring to the service items that represent some aspect of God's Wisdom. As a visual, set up a table in the center or front of the worship space. Place food and drink (perhaps bread or fruit or cheese and a goblet filled with juice) in the center of the table with empty space around it. As a response activity, invite participants to bring forward their items and decorate the table. Conclude with the following prayer:

God, you saturate our lives with opportunities to hear the voice of Wisdom. In bringing these reminders of Wisdom forward we acknowledge and celebrate the many gifts she offers. Give us ears that listen to her voice and hearts that seek her table, a table filled with good gifts, with food and drink, with understanding and life. Amen.

Option 3: Set up a table in the center or front of the worship space and fill it with food and drink (perhaps juice and bread, crackers, cheese, fruit, or candy). Provide utensils for serving and eating. As a response activity, invite participants forward to partake of the feast set at Wisdom's table. Consider using these words as an invitation to the feast:

Leader: Doesn't Wisdom call?

Doesn't Understanding raise her voice?

On the hills and throughout the cities, she cries out:

Women and men, people everywhere, I'm calling out to you!

I cry out to all of humanity!

Whoever wants enlightenment, step this way! Abandon your foolishness that you may live and walk the path of understanding. You who find me find life and earn the favor of God.

Wisdom has prepared her food, decanted her wine, and set her table, inviting anyone who yearns for life to come eat her bread and drink her wine.

You are invited to come now, to eat and drink at Wisdom's table.

—Inspired by excerpts from Proverbs 8:1–9:6

SENDING BLESSING

Go from here, and remember to listen for the voice of Wisdom calling. She who existed with God from the beginning of time wants nothing more than to draw you near. May you find and be comforted in her embrace.

SONG SUGGESTIONS

I long for your commandments (Hymnal: A Worship Book #543)

O God, great womb (Hymnal: A Worship Book #155)

Like a mother who has borne us (Sing the Journey #91)

Long before my journey's start (Sing the Journey #36)

Love the Lord your God (Sing the Story #55)

Comme un souffle fragile / Like a tender breath, stirring (Sing the Story #106)

VISUAL SUGGESTIONS

Place a table in the center or front of the worship space. Depending on which reflecting and responding activity you chose, fill the table with either a symbolic or actual feast. Add colorful cloth, candles, or flowers. Wisdom's table is one of abundance, warmth, and welcome.
